

Enterprise Data Management (EDM): Managed services

Hosting, managing and standardizing data management needs.

Enterprise Data Management (EDM) managed services enable customers to simplify data management delivery.

Firms can optimize infrastructure, maximize compliance and minimize costs while benefitting from a strategic, scalable approach to improving operations.

Data management needs differ from business to business. Business and regulatory requirements change and evolve. Mapping out a firm's data architecture can be complex and expensive.

Users of EDM managed services benefit from IHS Markit's data management expertise. Variable costs can be managed carefully while firms retain control of their data.
