IN-DEPTH INSIGHT

Independent and trusted

Impartial, international, regional, and local

In order to provide truly credible intelligence, the content in Jane's Military & Security Assessments Intelligence Centre is collected, validated, and updated by a global team of expert analysts. Subject experts and locally embedded analysts combine to ensure not only that the content is accurate and impartial, but also that it takes into account relevant national and regional factors. Jane's military capabilities and country risk content is built from the ground up, meaning that the intelligence is meaningful and actionable locally, regionally, and internationally.

Strict methodology for trusted, reliable, actionable content

When gathering and processing information, Jane's analysts follow a strict methodology to ensure accuracy, reliability, and utility:

- Reliable sources. If no primary source is available the information is corroborated using at least three secondary or tertiary sources.
- Peer review and cross-checking. All information passes through a rigorous peer review process.
- End-user focus. Analysis is written with the client in mind to help them understand situations, contexts, and implications for the future.

Satellite imagery analysis

Better context, faster

Broaden, deepen, or validate your understanding

Satellite imagery analysis enables analysts to understand the critical aspects of complex, nuanced issues and can provide decision makers with the understanding they need in order to ask the crucial questions sooner.

Each month our analysts focus on the world's most important, significant and topical areas of national and international security. Detailed independent IMINT, news and insight enables you to broaden, deepen, or validate your understanding of the worldwide security picture.

Jane's Satellite Imagery Analysis, exclusively available as an add-on capability in Jane's Military & Security Assessments Intelligence Centre, delivers better context, faster through expert scrutiny of detailed imagery.

POWERFUL ANALYTICS

Visualise, discover and share information in exciting new ways

Jane's delivers filtering, data visualisation and graphics export capabilities which are genuinely intuitive and very simple to use. These interactive dashboards and explorers enable you to explore inventories, ORBATs and risk ratings across the globe.

With structured ORBATs data for more than 17,700 units and 8,900 bases; plus inventories for more than 190 countries, Jane's Military and Security Assessments allows you to quickly understand and assess capabilities and threats. By connecting this data to the 40,000 structured equipment profiles contained in Jane's Defence Equipment and Technology Intelligence Centre, Jane's is uniquely positioned to provide timely, accurate, validated intelligence.
