TECHNOLOGY

Security Technology

Extensive coverage of security technology markets, encompassing access control and fire, cybersecurity, digital ID, critical communications and video surveillance.

Research Type Description

INTELLIGENCE SERVICES

Real-time access to continually updated market data, and forecasts, analyst insights, topical research reports and analyst presentations.

MARKET TRACKERS

Regular periodic analysis and forecasts designed to provide timely visibility into relevant market and technology trends.

REPORTS

Topical reports addressing key focus areas with in-depth analysis on market and technology trends.

CUSTOM & CONSULTING

Meaningful analysis and action-oriented recommendations for custom cases and consulting, building on extensive IHS data and recognized industry experience.

Access Control & Fire

The total installed base of access control readers, panels, credentials and electronic locks is expected to reach 2.3 billion by 2016, up from 1.8 billion in 2012. Approximately 95% of the installed base in 2016 is in the form of credentials—not surprising given the requirement that each user possess a card or pass. Although making up a majority of the market, credentials growth is slowing because turnover is much higher, with employees moving through jobs and people accidentally misplacing credentials cards or passes.

This research covers fire and security equipment, services and vertical applications across access control, fire detection and suppression, counterterrorism and more.

Access Control & Fire

ACCESS CONTROL INTELLIGENCE SERVICE - ANNUAL

Primary analysis on the equipment market encompassing readers, panels, credentials, software and electronic locks, with additional analysis on wireless devices, open standards and protocols, and project size.
