

The Expert Index Collection by IHS Markit, delivered on Engineering Workbench™, is the most comprehensive collection of trusted, authoritative technical reference content, aggregated and readily accessible in one place, to help engineers and others quickly make the best decisions. Companies across industry sectors depend on the Expert Index Collection to ensure their technical professionals have the best reference sources available at their fingertips.

Here are the Top Reasons why you and your organization need to join these successful companies in adopting Expert Index Collection today.

Find all the essential technical reference information you need in one place!

What causes galvanic corrosion?

Discover answers across over 75 million technical articles, reports, conference papers, design principles/best practices and more, from vetted publishers

Improves engineering efficiency by providing a single source to search across essential technical reference – including Deep Web content not indexed elsewhere.

Solve problems and make better decisions faster!

Use next-generation search technology to find answers swiftly

Artificial intelligence technologies like natural-language processing and machine learning accelerate decision cycles by helping you drill down quickly to the solution you need for an engineering or technical challenge, across authoritative sources that you trust, including applied engineering content from leading industry publishers.

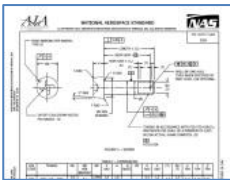

Get more value out of your existing third-party content subscriptions!

Search across content you already subscribe to, from publishers like AIAA, ASM International, IEEE Xplore Digital Library, and many more, then punch out directly to the document on the third-party site

With one search query, you can find answers in content from organizations you trust, and punch out to the publisher's site, directly to the document, with no login required, saving time and keystrokes.

Ensure compliance and apply industry best practices!

Access your standards content (what you need to do) alongside applied engineering reference content (how you need to do it)

Ensures that you have all the information you need to implement the requirements of critical industry standards, combining the 1.7 million+ documents in the Standards, Codes & Specs collections from IHS Markit with the supporting technical reference content in Expert Index Collection.

Easy to get started, with value when and where you need it!

Pro-rated subscriptions, plus enterprise-wide access

Simplifies your finance and accounting processes by aligning your IHS Markit subscriptions with your budgetary cycle, and an enterprise-wide license ensures access for all your engineers, regardless of their location.

Need more? Here are the Top Reasons leading companies are choosing Engineering Workbench as their technical knowledge management platform.

One username, one password, all your content!

One place to go for access to all your essential technical reference content

Saves time and frustration as engineers no longer need to log into multiple content systems to access different types of content. Standards, eBooks, articles, patents, and more – it's all in one place, on a single intuitive platform.

A solution that works the way you do!

Personalize your desktop workspace to match your changing information requirements and put the information you need most at your fingertips

Keeps engineers focused on engineering, projects on track, and project teams organized. The flexible workspace is easily customizable, yet remains uncluttered.

Customize your subscriptions to meet your information requirements!

Essential technical reference aligned to your industry

Ensure access to the critical content that meets the specific research requirements of your engineering, research, development, and scientific teams, with collections that align to your business needs.

Go with a trusted partner!

55+ years providing critical technical content to technical professionals

Gives you the assurance of working with an experienced partner, with a track record of providing authoritative content to organizations like yours, and long-term relationships with critical content partners.

Ensure user adoption!

Use a proven platform, already on the desktops of thousands of users globally

Simplifies adoption across your organization by leveraging a popular platform built for technical professional by technical professionals, to align and integrate with your workflows, with easy yet powerful search capabilities.

Ready to ensure compliance and increase productivity by up to 30%?

Request more information or trial access to the Expert Index Collection from IHS Markit today!

Call: +1 844 301 7334

Email

View global sales phone numbers