The Markit iBoxx USD Liquid High Yield Low Beta index consists of liquid USD high yield bonds with a below average sensitivity to market fluctuations.

Bonds in the Parent Index are grouped by sector; bonds with yields below each sector’s weighted median yield are included in the index. The approach is based on the conclusion that lower yielding bonds tend to have a lower beta. The Index is designed to represent the lower yielding, less credit sensitive portion of the high yield corporate bond market.

The Markit iBoxx USD Liquid High Yield Low Beta Index has been designed to provide a suitable basis for tradable products including Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs).
